A license to help fellow Texans

Show your pride in Rotary while supporting a good cause. The State of Texas is now offering specialty Rotary license plates. The cost is $30 for a single set, or you can get it personalized for an extra ten dollars. From the $30 specialty plate fee, $22 goes to the Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) to help fund Tuberculosis (TB) prevention and for improving the delivery of TB prevention and control services. To order online, and for more information, click here. Some TB programs and services offered by the DSHS include:

Community-Based TB screenings:

Local health departments in selected urban and border counties receive funding from the Tuberculosis (TB) Program to establish a TB screening program in methadone drug treatment centers, HIV early intervention centers, homeless shelters and other organizations that serve high-risk groups. Individuals identified with latent TB infection are referred to the appropriate health department for treatment and other follow-up as appropriate.

Drug-Resistant TB (DRTB) Monitoring and Control

The DRTB Program coordinates, tracks, and monitors all reported laboratory confirmed drug-resistant TB cases throughout their course of treatment. The program works with medical providers to ensure rapid notification of the drug resistant status. It assists the provider in obtaining expert TB consultation to assure that the patient is provided with an adequate treatment plan and that the provider is aware of DSHS policies and requirements relevant to drug resistant TB. Consultations by designated TB experts are recommended and strongly encouraged for all cases with resistance to isoniazid only, rifampin only, or both isoniazid and rifampin (MDR) combined with other TB drugs. This program also monitors the directly observed therapy (DOT) policy, which is the standard of care in Texas in the treatment of TB patients.

Correctional TB

The Correctional TB Program provides technical assistance to all county jails and other correctional facilities. These correctional facilities must have an approved TB control plan. The Correctional TB Program also consults with correctional facilities when they have a case of TB within their facility to facilitate identification of persons with risk of exposure and to facilitate continuity of care upon release or transfer.

New collaboration strengthens AIDS fight

By Ryan Hyland

Rotary International News — 26 July 2010

Rotarian Action Group committed to fighting AIDS is joining forces with a global health organization that has used scientific methodology to prevent disease and improve the lives of women and children living in poverty.

Rotarians for Fighting AIDS and Family Health International (FHI) signed a memorandum of understanding during the RI Convention in Montréal, Québec, Canada, in June, committing to seek out collaborative initiatives to help those affected by HIV/AIDS, primarily in Africa. They will draw on their complementary capabilities, resource networks, and respective areas of expertise to provide care and nutrition, and teach health education and life skills to orphans, vulnerable children, and their families.

“I’m excited about the partnership with FHI because we both have the ability to create a stronger, sustainable solution using the efforts of Rotarian leadership at a country level and international level,” says Marion Bunch, head of the action group and a member of the Rotary Club of Dunwoody, Georgia, USA. “FHI’s technical expertise and leading-edge programs will help strengthen the global response to the ‘whole’ needs of children and families.”

FHI was founded in 1971 as the International Fertility Research Program by a small group of researchers at the University of North Carolina, with funding from USAID. Since then, the organization has changed its name and broadened its mission, emphasizing the use of science, measurement, and evaluation to develop standards for advancing maternal health and AIDS prevention.
